

Do You Need a Helping Hand With Your Payroll?

Getting payroll right is vital.

Get it wrong and you'll hear about it. Get it right and no one will mention it. But you must get it right.

Using manual processes and wading through mountains of payroll paperwork means you're asking for trouble.

It's a jobseekers' market just now – and you need to remember you're competing with employers who get their payroll right, every time. That's important...

...because

50%

of employees who get paid wrongly a few times in a year look for a new job.

Over

70%

of organisations still have manual components in their payroll procedures.

Little wonder it can easily go wrong.

Payroll mistakes disproportionately affect young workers – leading some to borrowing from family and friends, using credit cards for food and bills, and skipping all but essential purchases.

Not a good impression on recent hires or potential future managers.

In a 2021 survey

94%

of British and Irish businesses admitted payroll mistakes in the preceding 12 months.

Did you know there's a payroll software company that achieves accuracy?

99.999%

There's a simple solution.
Automation.
