ENGAGING YOUR EMPLOYEES A CHALLENGE?

Transport and logistics doesn't always feature high on career aspiration lists for people entering the workforce. With the average age of an HGV driver being 55, we know the challenge of retaining young talent is as difficult as it is attracting it. You need to make your transport and logistics business stand out above local competitors and position your business as an employer of choice. Engaging employees through learning and development is key, as is effective ongoing communication. Utilising our Learning Management System (LMS) and communication tools will support this objective.
